

WOMAN FOILS BUNCO GAME FOR STRANGER'S $200

Pursues Lumberman Bradon's
"Friend" Down Broadway and Forces Him to Disgorge.

IS PRAISED BY COURT.

Visitor from the West Declines to Press Charge and Dor-son Escapes.

In complimenting Anna Floyd, of No. 92 East Sixty-fifth street, on her honest to-day Magistrate Corrigan said that she had showed a spirit which should make her worthy of a more useful life than she seemed to be leading. She was brought before the Magistrate with Fred Dorson, of No. 53 Southern Boulevard, and William Bradon, a lumberman, of St. Regis Falls, in the city with his winter's savings to see the sights.

Bradon says he met Dorson in a bar-room and remarked to him casually that New York was a mighty hard town for a stranger to enjoy himself in, even though he did have $200 in his pocket. Dorson said he would fix all that at once if Bradon really had $200. Bradon, being from St. Regis Falls, at once displayed the $200.

"You let me take care of that money," said Dorson, calmly reaching for it and putting it in his pocket. "You, being a stranger, might get robbed."

Bradon was delighted to get rid of the weight of responsibility. Dorson started the sight-seeing trip by taking the lumberman to a saloon in West Thirty-seventh street, off Broadway. Here Anna Floyd introduced herself and was cordially welcomed by the lumberman. Dorson didn't seem to be quite so glad of her presence. Anna Floyd liked Bradon. He was simple; he was jovial; he was generous.

Dorson suggested that they take a stroll on Broadway. Soon after they reached the street, he said he had to go around the corner to see a man.

As he departed, the girl, who knew Dorson had the lumberman's money and might easily have followed him and demanded a division, said to Bradon:

"Are you going to let him get away with your money like that?"

"Why," said Bradon, "he wouldn't keep it would he?"

"Do you want your money?" asked the girl, who is broad-shouldered and athletic looking.

"You bet your boots I do," said the lumberman, "but if he's got it, he's got it, ain't he? I don't know how to get it back."

"I do," said the girl, and she ran down the street after Dorson, screaming "Thief!" at the top of her voice.

"He'll just run, if you do that!" objected the woodsman, pounding along beside her.

"No, he won't. He won't dare run," laughed the girl between screams. "And if he does, they'll pinch him anyway."

They caught up with Dorson. He threw the pocketbook into the Broadway gutter at Thirty-seventh street. Anna Floyd picked it up and handed it to Bradon, who had grabbed Dorson and was beginning to treat him roughly. Policeman Hogan, of the West Thirty-seventh street station, arrested all three for creating a disturbance.

Bradon said he guessed he had been a fool and he didn't want to make any more fuss over the matter, as he had his money all safe. Magistrate Corrigan advised him to hurry back to St. Regis Falls, dismissed the girl with his compliments and fined Dorson $5.

REVENUE OFFICER TO WED.
Muller Stuntz Hay, an officer in the United States revenue cutter service, with a residence at Erie, Pa., and Miss Helen Reid Troup, of No. 15 West Thirty-ninth street, obtained a marriage license in the City Hall Bureau today. They will be married Sunday.

PRETTY GIRL HEARD CALL OF THE STAGE

May Moriarity, Who Ran Away From Home, Didn't Reach the Footlights.

May Moriarity, a pretty-faced, sixteen-year-old girl, left her home in Greenville, N. J., last Sunday to go on the stage. She was arrested today at No. 29 West Thirtieth street, where she was found in the company of Frank Crane, a ticket speculator, working outside the Fourteenth Street Theatre, who was also taken into custody, and later held for further examination by Magistrate Barlow in $1,000 bail.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, an aunt of the girl, testified that Crane had enticed her relative away from home with promises of diamonds, fine clothes and a gay life on the stage. She said that the girl had been secretly meeting Crane for some weeks before her disappearance. When the girl found out that Crane was only a speculator and not an actor she was greatly disturbed. She has been turned over to the Gerry Society pending the outcome of the case against Crane.

BIG CORPORATION COMES TO NEW YORK

Stockholders of Union Typewriter Company Resolve to Quit New Jersey.

Timothy L. Woodruff was one of the principal speakers today at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Typewriter Company, at No. 15 Exchange place, Jersey City.

The most important matter under discussion was the proposal to remove from the State of New Jersey and incorporate in New York. Mr. Woodruff spoke in favor of this move, and the stockholders decided to take it. By incorporating in New York the company can save about $10,000 a year in expenses.

It is expected that the Board of Directors will take action when they have their next meeting in New York.

The statement of the company shows that during the year 1938 there was a profit of $12,028. The company now has a net surplus of $2,092 and its total assets are more than $21,000.00. The old Board of Directors were re-elected.

KILLED IN FILIPINO FIGHT.

Newark Woman Hears of Death of Husband and Three Others.

Mrs. William Cook, of Pennington street, Newark, today received word from Washington that her husband, a drummer in the Navy, together with three others, had been killed in an encounter with the Filipinos.

Further particulars were not forthcoming. Cook had been in the Navy for twenty-three years.

To Clean Straw Matting.

Before applying water to straw matting it should be thoroughly swept and then gone over with a dry cloth to remove as much dust as possible. Remove grease spots by applying Fuller's earth made into a thin paste with cold water. Spread the paste over the spot, let it remain two or three days; then brush it off carefully. To freshen and clean matting wipe it off in lukewarm water to which has been added a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder to a basin of water. The matting should never be made thoroughly wet, but wiped a little at a time with a damp cloth, and the water should be changed frequently.

The Dress Goods Sale

If we were to quote all the items in our Dress Goods stock that deserve your quickest thought and action, our advertising would degenerate into a prosaic catalogue. We've picked out six worthy weaves to word-picture. They are big values—and representative of dozens of other equally big values that are here.

Don't buy Dress Goods blindly—or you may blunder. Make a few intelligent and unbiased comparisons. Examine competitive offerings with judicial exactness and fairness. The result is sure to sustain every claim we make. Our present claim is right to the point.

A Dress Goods stock that for downright quality uplift and price-lowness has no parallel.

65c All-Wool Serge, 49c

Don't think of humdrum Serge when you read this. These are all-wool, warp-way and woof-way. Firmly woven. Look at the surfaces. Every twill is true—exact. They have been sponged and shrunk. Dews and damps, drips and drizzles can't hurt the dress made of these Serges. Garnet, brown, myrtle, navy—40 inches wide—49c a yard.

85c Diagonal Suiting, 59c

These Diagonal Suitings have goodnesses all their own. Diagonals that are diagonals—not sleazy, slanting, loosely woven lines that scarcely cut the face of the fabric. These are strongly defined, bold, striking, and are shown in a large variety of colors, including catwba, wistaria, rose, sage, cadet, taupe, brown, gray, myrtle and navy. Width? 46 inches. Price? 59c.

$1.00 Chevron Suitings, 68c

Chevrons captivated the preference of women and are holding it by the charm of their excellence—excellence that reveals itself in service. They are striped in a shadowy way that is unobtrusive but effective. The Chevrons in this circle come in all the pretty Spring tints, as well as the stand-by staple shades—50 inches wide; 68c a yard.

Rare Black Dress Goods Values

49c for 65c All-Wool Black Serge, 40 inches wide, sponged and shrunk. Stuff you may put the needle into with never a fear.

49c for $1.00 All-Wool Black Checked Voile, 50 inches wide; fine chignon finish. A fabric that's worn in all weathers—warm or cold.

84c for $1.50 Plain All-Wool Black Voile, 50 inches wide; crisp finish—crush a fold in your hand; open—watch it spring back without leaving a trace of a wrinkle.

Novelties, too. All the newest, richest weaves from Paris—in plain and fancy effects. They are here in all their beauty and completeness at saving prices.

Boys' Pajamas

If you wish to put your boy—6 to 16 years of age—in Pajamas, you'll find them here made of madras or flannel—and well made, roomy, strong—skimped nowhere—at 59c. Try to match them at 75c.

"Honesty in Advertising"

It lies within the power of the public to stop advertising that seeks to hoodwink. You—the public—can make it unprofitable for store-keepers to indulge in exaggeration. If you discriminate intelligently against the prevaricator and in favor of the veracious, the ethics of advertising will rapidly attain that lofty standard to which we and other truth-tellers are trying to lift it.

Therefore, we urge you to sift and criticize—to dissect and analyze. In America, public opinion is almost infallible. If the merchant quibbles and shuffles with trumped-up whys and wherefores that are both stupid and false, don't trade with him. This and all other cities have stores where each and every transaction is based on the individual character of their owners. Don't be pessimistic—remember that right here in New York there are enough honest advertisers to redeem the system from disgrace. Just because one dealer imposes upon your credulity, just because one dealer, in effect, says, "I can print anything without scruple so long as it is within legal limits," don't jump at the conclusion that all advertisers deserve your contempt.

Truthful advertising, honest goods, lowest prices—serve us best.

From St. Gall: Embroideries

They have just come over. Saw New York sunlight for the first time Monday. Should have arrived two weeks ago. Related, but none the less welcome. Their beauty is of the delicate, dainty kind that you'll like. Fresh, crisp, sheer foundation material, lined with pretty stitchings and exquisite tints. The prices? They are made appealing.
